

Ryan J.

Aim: To write a diary account of 2013 Tornado in Moore, Orlando

Dear Diary,

In Tornado Alley, a news alert stated that there was tornado. When my mom was washing up she looked out and spotted a tornado!

It was coming towards us rapidly, quickly so my mom and dad started thinking that we like crisps, sweets and bread and my mom thought of things like a torch, pillows and pyjamas. We went down under the ground and we could hear Clash! Bang! Then we shouted, "Help me!"

Next, there was a tree that crashed to the ground. My brother had a phone inside. My Mom and I thanked the fireman who helped us. When I got out there was a disaster!

After six months, all the buildings were good and also the President tried to improve our country. He wanted to make it safe. Tornadoes were like terrible tiger and lions. This was one of the biggest tornadoes ever! People lost many private belongings like even a birth certificate! There were so many sad consequences!

